

Was evacuation the adventure that some films suggest?

The film suggested that evacuation was...

not a bad experience. It seemed that it was an adventure and it was not sad. The house was a mansion and they were treated well.
The children were a similar class to the owner.

From studying evacuation I think evacuation was...

a frightening, scary, sad and upsetting
experience and anxious

I know this because...

I have read accounts of evacuees experiences from different sources. I seen video clips from WWII.

The film has shown it in this way because...

it showed a real life experience for some children in WWII but they wanted to make it more entertaining and exciting for children, so they wouldn't be scared.

I do/do not think evacuation was the adventure films suggest because...

it was a good experience for some children not bad for others because it depended on what house you were sent to and how you were treated by the owners.

Was evacuation the adventure that some films suggest?

The film suggested that evacuation was...

nice but I already know that being evacuated can be horrible.

From studying evacuation I think evacuation was...

kind of scary because you were being taken away from your family.

I know this because...

At the beginning of the film the children were on the train and Mum + Granma waved goodbye.

The film has shown it in this way because...

the film is for children so they made it nice so children didn't get scared.

I do/do not think evacuation was the adventure films suggest because...

I know evacuation can be horrific because you might not get fed and have to do everything for them.

However a few children get evacuated to someone nice & caring.

Was evacuation the adventure that some films suggest?

The film suggested that evacuation was... fun and exciting an adventure. It ~~was~~ was nice and the man was kind and funny.

From studying evacuation I think evacuation was... frighting and scary because you going somewhere new. Sometimes fun and great depend on who you get to.

I know this because... of some researching and ~~is~~ hearing and seeing other people videos
and some sources.

The film has shown it in this way because... its ~~exes~~ for children and they want it to be entertaining for them.

I do/do not think evacuation was the adventure films suggest because... It was an adventure for some people but not for other children. For the majority it won't be an adventure

Was evacuation the adventure that some films suggest?

The film suggested that evacuation was...

Some times upsetting but can also be a lot of fun depending on the class. People who look after you can be really nice but can be mean as well.

From studying evacuation I think evacuation was...

Scary, frightening, upsetting but could also be Great fun and comforting depending on who looks after you. I know this

I know this because...

after watching the video and reading the sources. Not all homes are the same.

The film has shown it in this way because...

It is a child's film and it is wrong to make it upsetting.

I do/do not think evacuation was the adventure films suggest because...

People have different classes, therefore evacuation isn't always fun. Most children would not have an adventure

The experience of evacuation has been interpreted in different ways for example

The lion, the witch and the wardrobe

poster - by the Government

photographs

sources

I think that this is evacuation was bad and was good. It was good because they got some things that they did not in London. It was bad for others because people use evacuations for work and stores